

COMING TOGETHER AT THE CENTRE OF IT ALL.

It's the time of year when many reflect on the past and prepare for the future. It's a time to look back on what's been accomplished and review what's left to be done... to account for investments and focus forward to an improved tomorrow. At the Calgary TELUS Convention Centre, we're proud of what we see.

A year ago we committed to improving our future. We refocused our organization to be where it needs to be: serving our clients and creating the most memorable experiences for them and their guests. We had some tough conversations to figure out how that looked, and we chose to do what needed to be done to be the centre of it all for those whose reputation demands the best for their events.

With a renewed sense of purpose, we began delivering on our mission. We renovated a number of our spaces to foster collaboration and enhance innovation.

We improved our services and the spaces that encourage our clients to meet, connect and interact. Our team worked with our clients to better understand their goals so we could better help achieve them.

As a city, we continue to grow as a hub for innovation. As a centre, we recognize that innovation happens when people come together to connect and collaborate. For us, our focus in 2019 is stronger than ever to be more than just four walls and a roof. Through our collective focus on the people and spaces needed to support great events, we aspire to be the centre of it all for those great events.

At the Centre of it all is the fundamental desire for our full team to come together for you. To innovate. To collaborate. To work together to build a more prosperous future. We look forward to having you join us to see what's happening. Together, let's make some amazing things happen at the centre of it all.
